AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

It May Affect Many Thousands of Land Titles.

WASHINGTON, May 20th.—The opinion of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the United States vs. John D. Hall was to-day the subject of earnest discussion among the officials of the General Land Office. One of the points at issue was that Hall had made oath before a Notary Public. The Supreme Court decided that where an oath is required by the United States statute that oath can be administered only by an officer of the United States. Hence, a Notary Public, being a State officer, cannot administer oaths to United States officials, except when the statute specifically states oath may be made before such State official.

This opinion, it is believed, seriously affects the status of more than a hundred thousand cases in the mineral division alone of the General Land Office. Deputy mineral surveyors have for several years, it is said, sworn to the correctness of their statement through Notaries Public. During the last four years a large number of cases under the general land laws have been received for patents at the General Land Office where final proof was not made before the officer designated by law for the purposes. Where no other error was found they have been allowed to go to patent. This policy was first adopted by Secretary Vilas. The opinion of the Supreme Court has created alarm, and a request for an interpretation of section 2,395 of the Revised Statutes has been sent to Assistant Attorney General Shields, with particular reference to the Supreme Court decision and its effect upon pending cases in the General Land Office.

Roswell P. Hoar, who always blooms in the Spring and is cut down by the early political frosts in the Fall, is just now shedding his fragrance in Oregon. A Portland reporter asked him: "Are you a candidate for the Presidency?" Mr. Hoar fell back in his chair and alternately smiled and sent up blue wreaths of smoke from his cigar. "Then he said he did not care to talk politics. 'Would you accept the nomination if it were tendered to you?' 'I am discharged as cured from politics. I do not seek the Presidency. Gov. Hill and Grover Cleveland are the two big men in the Democratic camp to-day.'"

James and John are good names for a boy, yet James appears to be a better surname than any other for a candidate for President of the United States. We have had as many as five Jameses in the Presidential chair within this century—James Madison, James Monroe, James K. Polk, James Buchanan, and James A. Garfield. Moreover, the father of President James Madison was named James Madison and the father of President James Buchanan was named James Buchanan. After the Jameses the Johns have panned out next best—John Adams, John Q. Adams and John Tyler.

Ex-Senator Mahone, of Virginia, grows more picturesque every year. His hair grows longer and whiter, his body thinner and his face more weathered. But there is no suspicion of age in his eyes. They are as bright and piercing as ever, and like most brown eyes have a youthful appearance in strange contrast to the aged face in which they are set. Mahone's mail, since he has been in Washington, is enormous. He says he thinks he has at least one letter, pleading or threatening, from each Republican in Virginia.

It seems about settled that Stone, the present Assistant Commissioner, will be appointed Commissioner of the General Land Office before the end of the present fiscal year. Commissioner Stockinger has evidently been retained simply to finish up the work incidental to the opening of Oklahoma.

San Francisco is smacking its lips over rumors that John W. Mackay, James G. Fair and D. O. Mills will soon build large commercial palaces in that city. Fair is to build on the Lick House site, for which building he paid $1,200,000. Mackay will build on Montgomery street, and Mills at the corner of Bush and Montgomery.

The swarming of people at the Paris Exhibition is becoming serious. A quarter of a million of people were present on Sunday, although the exhibition is unfinished, and the American exhibit has hardly begun. The accommodations, sanitary and restaurant, are declared to be utterly inadequate.

G. R. Agassiz, of Boston, nephew of the late eminent professor of that name, and C. P. Curtis, of the same city have, started to go through the canyons of the Grand river, Colorado. This is considered one of the most exciting and perilous of trips. It has been made only twice before.

It is reported at Washington that ex-Senator Bruce, from Mississippi, a colored man, and under the late Republican Administration Register of the Treasury, is to succeed General Rosecrans in his old position.

Senator Cameron built a house at Washington a few days ago that cost him, lot and all, $45,000. Vice President Morton offered him $100,000 for it and now owns it.

A. B. Henderson, formerly managing editor of the San Francisco Examiner, has returned to his old position, after an absence of something less than a year.

A license has been issued to Rev. Mrs. Ellen Binecke, of Cleveland, Ohio, to perform marriage ceremonies.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland has received from the Queen Regent of Spain a photograph.

THEY SAY HE'S ALL RIGHT.

Gen. Harrison's Friends Think He Knows What He's About.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—The cry of the soreheads in antagonism to President Harrison will not move him. He is a man made of stuff strong enough to follow out the processes of his own reasoning as to how the great trust confided to him should be administered. Of course one can hear criticisms from the disappointed, and, if patient, can have narrated how the Presidential office should be run. But, as in the campaign, the cry as to "What's the matter with Harrison?" can still be met with the response that "He's all right!"

Who is it, after all, now doing the quarrel? One can hear that Senator Quay is dissatisfied. Suppose he is. After all, what does Gen. Harrison owe Quay? Who would now be President of the United States if Quay had availed at Chicago? Benjamin Harrison? Not a bit of it. John Sherman would be at the helm. Then, again, Sherman's friends affect to feel outraged because the senior Ohio Senator cannot intrench in fat offices all his shoulders and shriekers. The musty brigade of his benchmen, ever clinging to the public test, from whence Grover Cleveland severed them, want more.

Harrison is under no obligation to them. He is under no bond, reciprocal or otherwise, to John Sherman. How many votes did the Ohio contingent at Chicago contribute to the lumber necessary to give the Presidential nomination? Simply one, and the one who cast that vote would have been ousted out of it had he not had the nerve sufficient to demand a poll amid the denunciations of John Sherman's trusted allies, both in the delegation and in the galleries.

Mr. Sherman outraged, forsooth! Simply because Gen. Harrison refuses to build him up at the public expense by providing a payroll for his hungry following, who have already grown gray whiskers in acknowledging the receipts of Uncle Sam's funds. Mr. Harrison's motto is "New blood." And then to think that Don Cameron is also disappointed. The account between Benjamin Harrison and the Pennsylvania Senator needs no bookkeeper to adjust. Cameron, it is true was not at Chicago, but everybody knows where his heart was. In the campaign his able speeches in behalf of the nominee could have been made only to the woods, for the echo does not record them. But the echo, per contra, does whisper that he characterized the candidate of his party as "a chump," whatever that may imply. Of course, over Cameron's disappointment Senator Quay will send conciliatory tears.

HE IS PRESIDENT. Moreover, one hears that Blaine is restless. And why? Mr. Harrison has given to Mr. Blaine the distinguishing badge of honor within his gift. He has done for him all that Gen. Garfield did, save in the fact that he did not confer the dual distinction of his being President and Secretary of State at the same time.

But the South is ignored, says Sir Critic. This plaint comes from a hungry horde of irresponsible colored brethren who floated to the surface during the palmy days of reconstruction, when, as one of their oracles put it, "There is five years of good stealing left in the State." What does Gen. Harrison owe this band of professional colored politicians? Were the sordid voices of these patriots raised in Harrison's behalf when the convention assembled? Who among them were free from the influences of the "two barrels" opened for their use, and shouted for the son of Tippecanoe? What Southern State did this brigade bring to the Electoral college? And Mahone, too, is frisking about as a mad bull. Gen. Harrison is certainly under no obligations to him—but only on the same basis that he is in debt to John Sherman, for Mahone at every stage of the Chicago balloting voted against Benjamin Harrison.

TALK TO HIS FRIENDS. The truth is Gen. Harrison is true to his friend. He has been criticized by Senators and public men because his Cabinet is hodge-podge. But in his Secretary of War he had an able and zealous ally in Redfield Proctor, who put behind him the Vermont delegation. Nay, more, he came to the front and made a speech urging his nomination. The friends of Blaine get recognition in Blaine's preference. Not that he would otherwise have been the President's choice for Secretary of State, but in recognition of the support given him by the forces which clamored for Blaine's nomination. Blaine as a factor in the Chicago Convention made John Sherman impossible, and Benjamin Harrison not only possible, but a candidate. In Gen. Rusk the President acknowledges the services of Senator Spooner, of the Badger State, a long time friend. In Secretary Windom an acknowledgment of courteous treatment when a member of the Senate, in contradistinction to cavalier consideration by many of the body now criticizing him, and who during the heat of the campaign declared he left the Senate without even the good will of its page boys.

The Attorney General and Secretary of the Interior may have been personal considerations, but it is the proclaimed prerogative of a President to have his trusted friends in his official family. Gen. Harrison may expect trouble. Any President with the heroic courage to assert his independence of the bosses invites it. It will come, though, from those who bode him no good. The President might honeycomb Ohio with John Sherman's followers and four years from now all with one acclaim will attune for whom? Benjamin Harrison? Not at all. Whom then? Why, John Sherman. And yet Mr. Sherman from a foreign critic talks between the lines disparagingly of the Administration and breaks cryptically off at an interesting period of what Blaine can't do. Ought John Sherman, if he do more than Blaine with an Administration with which the latter has conspicuous identity?

THE YOUNGER ELEMENT'S TURN. There is an abundance of blood and worthy material in the younger element of the Republican party. Is it to be forever ignored to renege to places of profit and trust a lot of professional officeholders? Is there not some period when the old hacks will let go and give way to the conferring of a badge upon those who work just as hard, display equal party zeal, and contribute alike to the success of a political battle?

The President of the United States thinks so, and it is because of this he is proceeding deliberately and with caution in filling the offices. It is because of this the political magnates who think they own a President are emitting their mutterings and anathemas. But Harrison is all right, despite the braying of a class who would probably rather see his Administration a failure than a success.

WAR TO THE KNIFE.

A Democrat Determined to Retire Senator Gorman.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Ex-Congressman Rayner has determined to cut loose from the Gorman rule of Democracy in Maryland, and his speech at Baltimore is looked upon as the opening move in his fight against the Gorman element. Ever since Mr. Rayner's entrance into Congress, Mr. Gorman has eyed him askance, fearing in the brilliant young orator a dangerous rival. Mr. Rayner recognizes that it was Gorman, Rainier and Lannan who knifed him, and defeated him for election last Fall. He is openly determined to pay them all back. Mr. Gorman's term in the Senate expires two years hence, and Mr. Rayner now proposes to organize an independent Democracy in Maryland, which will elect a Legislature two years hence to defeat and crush Mr. Gorman forever, and send Mr. Rayner to the Senate. Mr. Rayner has unlimited brains, and practically, boundless wealth, and the latter is the almighty lever in Maryland politics. Mr. Gorman has sought to conciliate Rayner by the offer of the Governorship, but the latter refused to listen to any overtures. He wants Gorman defeated in Maryland, even if he must sacrifice the party to do it.

The Bulletin says that by next Christmas Seattle will be connected with the Canadian Pacific. The extreme north and south sections of the Pacific Coast will then enjoy railroad competition. If reports may be trusted, one and perhaps two, more overland lines will come to San Francisco in the near future. Then Northern and Central California will feel a new movement to which the completion of the Nicaragua Canal will lend strength.

Mrs. Cleveland is soon to be the recipient of an elegant souvenir in the shape of an album containing the autographs of the members of the Authors' Club of New York, spread upon leaves of the finest parchment. The signatures were collected through the efforts of Dr. Edward Eggleston, and the book has been artistically bound by one of the most skillful book-binders in the country.

The map gives a good idea of the tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia Street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town this Addition faces the beautiful Truckee River and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone Avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is it is more safe from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before Buying Elsewhere Parties will do Well to Look at These Lots.

RENO

Reno's geographical position is excellent. It is on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, only 154 miles from Sacramento, and 244 miles from San Francisco. It is the terminus of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad running south, and of the Nevada and California Railroad running north. It has two Flouring Mills, Planing Mills, three Nurseries, a Soap Factory, Reduction Works, and other industries. A great Woolen Mill and a Sash, Door, Blind and Box Factory, are about to be established.

Reno has the Bank of Nevada with $300,000 capital, and the First National Bank with $200,000 capital. It has two fine papers in the DAILY and WEEKLY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL and the Daily and Weekly Gazette.

Reno is the natural home of the Alfalfa, and therefore the great cattle headquarters of the State. Here are fed the prime beef for the California market. Reno potatoes are the best in the world, and she also excels in Strawberries and the small fruits. Reno Wheat took the first prize at the great New Orleans Exposition.

The State Fair is always held at Reno. Reno is the County Seat of Washoe County, the wealthiest county in Nevada.

New buildings are occupied as fast as erected. Reno has advantages which no other town can equal. The climate is mild and genial in Winter, and even and healthful in Summer. There are no excessively heated or severely cold terms, and while the days may be warm in Summer the nights are deliciously cool; in Winter sleigh-riding is the exception and not the rule.

Facilities for irrigating surpass any in the State and there is no failure of crops. Reno has Churches of all denominations, Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls, Mt. St. Mary's Academy, the State University, and splendid Public Schools.

The Reno Water Co. furnishes ample pure, cold water for all purposes. The Reno Electric Light Co.'s electric light system, already well established, is being augmented. The Reno Gas Co. supplies gas for all purposes. The streets of Reno are lighted by electricity.
